A $2,000,000 fund raising campaign on behalf of the Desert Hospital for expanded hospital rooms and facilities was announced Monday by prominent Villager and motion picture producer William Perlberg and Milton Prell, a Palm Springs resident and owner of the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas.

Drew Pearson's Forum Speech At 8 Tonight

His love for adventurous activity is a striking quality about Drew Pearson, noted columnist and commentator who will appear on the Community Forum Series at the Palm Springs High School tonight at 8 p.m.

Pearson has flown in the Arctic, flown in the Air Force jet fighters, gone to sea in a Navy submarine; landed and taken off from aircraft carriers in the Mediterranean, flown in helicopters, and visited various installations all over the world to see for himself how our military services function.

He has also gone on a raid on a moonshine still, been in an iron lung, subjected himself to danger of imprisonment in trips behind the Iron Curtain. His energy, curiosity and lack of concern over physical or other consequences are basic factors in his achievements as a reporter, columnist, and broadcaster.

It is the information gleaned from these many experiences that Pearson will bring to his Palm Springs audience tonight. Following his talk, there will be a session of questions from the audience. Pearson will be honored at a sponsors' reception later in the evening.

Tickets are available at the box office of the high school from 7 p.m.

Both men volunteered their services as concerned citizens regarding the inadequacy of the Desert Hospital to serve the needs of the people, and were promptly appointed by the Desert Hospital board to spearhead the fund-raising drive.

Dire Need
Twice a bond issue for the purpose of adding hospital facilities has met defeat at the polls. During the past year more than 750 people have had to seek hospitalization elsewhere because of lack of available space. Seven patients, although receiving proper medical care, were not able to be placed in rooms and died in the halls of the Desert Hospital during the 1960-61 season.

Feeling that this problem is more than adequate justification for a fund-raising drive for the hospital, Perlberg and Prell have invited several of their friends and associates to serve on the committee.

Workers
Among the first to signify their intention to do so are Harry Joe Brown, Harry Goldman, Joseph Hall, Moss Hart, David Holub, Sol Lesser, David McDonald, Jerry Nathanson, Phil Regan and Frank Sinatra.

"Our hospital has not kept pace with the growth of the desert area," Perlberg said, "and it is up to all of us to pitch in and lend a helping hand."

Pledges of support have already been received, and very shortly letters of solicitation will be in the mail to the area encompassed by the Desert Hospital District.

"We expect to receive considerable donations from winter residents," Perlberg continued, "but we need help from everyone."

Pledges should be addressed to the Desert Hospital Building Fund, Post Office Drawer EE, Palm Springs, Calif.

Reds Agree To Resume Ban Talks

Embargo Now by All Nations Is Their Condition

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union agreed today to resume the suspended nuclear test ban talks with the United States and Britain in Geneva on Nov. 28. But it asked an immediate embargo on all tests by any nation, implying it would walk out if the United States tested during the conference.

(A first assessment of the Soviet offer by American officials in Washington said the Soviet Union, after carrying out its own massive series of nuclear weapons tests, now appeared to be trying to force the United States and Britain to agree to another uninspected moratorium on such experiments.)

Said the Russians: "It is of course understood that if, in the course of the talks, any power will carry out tests of nuclear weapons, then by force of circumstances to which the Soviet government has already referred in the past, the other side will be compelled to draw the appropriate conclusions with regard to nuclear tests."

Answer to Allied Proposals
The Soviet notes, in reply to Anglo-American proposals to resume the talks submitted Nov. 13, were delivered to the U.S. and British embassies by the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

They made no mention of the fact that since resuming its own nuclear tests Sept. 1, the Soviet Union has set off more than 30 atmospheric explosions, including one with a yield of more than 50 megatons.

Director in NSA Forced To Resign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The personal director of the super-secret National Security Agency (NSA) has resigned at the insistence of the Pentagon. House investigators have urged that he be charged with perjury.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities announced Monday that Maurice H. Klein resigned 10 days ago. A Justice Department spokesman said it was studying the case.

The committee said Klein told congressional investigators that he made false statements about his personal history on official documents. The committee also said its investigation indicated that a personnel form in Klein's file was not the original document he made out in 1942, although Klein claimed it was.

The committee said a Defense Department official advised it that the FBI had confirmed its suspicion about Klein's personnel form.

Klein admitted making several misstatements in a 19-year-old job application form, but said they were the result of "pure carelessness."

Planners Get Rio Del Sol Road Request

RIVERSIDE — A request by William H. Kupper of Hollywood representing nine other property owners for consideration of the paving and maintenance of a strip of Rio Del Sol Road south of Ramon Road was referred by the board of supervisors Monday to the planning department.

The portion of the road requested for improvement is in front of the petitioners' property half way between Ramon Road and Wonder Palms road east of Palm Springs.

Season's First Storm Brings Rain, Wind to Desert Area

WHITE-MANTLED MOUNTAINS colored a bright sky for Palm Springs area residents this morning as sharp winds blew away the storm clouds. The view was spectacular from the eastern sections of the city, from where both Mt. San Jacinto and Mt. San Geronimo were visible. This shot was taken from Sunrise Way near Ramon Road by Desert Sun photographer Robert Nims. He was in the area to photograph storm damage and brought in this view of our wonderful mountains as sort of a bonus.

High Winds Toss Debris About Town

Rest of Nation Suffers Through Worse Weather

Dampened spirits of vacationers weren't the only result of the season's first rain storm yesterday and this morning. Disrupted electric power, flying garbage pails, bent-over palm trees were also reported in the Palm Springs area.

Storm total this morning when blue skies again appeared over the area had reached .18 or just under a fifth of an inch. Yesterday's high and low was 63 and 39. The storm nearly doubled the total seasonal rainfall to date (since July 1) to a total of .43 of an inch.

Wind Damage Reported

A freak wind which blew up yesterday afternoon turned into quite a rain and wind storm which lasted in varying intensity through the night. Wind damage reported by the Palm Springs City Public Works department included the precarious tilting of seven newly-planted palm trees on North Palm Canyon Drive.

High winds created havoc with anything that wasn't tied down early this morning and the corner of Sunrise and Ramon found a pile of building materials from the new Alpha Beta market being built there.

California Electric repair crews were out during the night repairing damaged lines. Ray Burkett, district commercial supervisor here, called the damage minor and said "we were pretty fortunate that as little damage resulted from the very strong winds." He said he found hail in his front yard around 6:30 this morning in the high school area.

Snow Covers Mountains

There was definitely snow high atop Mt. San Jacinto to give desert visitors the treat of seeing the white stuff from afar.

A large pool of water formed east of Araby Point was the result of man-made error — and not the weather — according to the Palm Springs Water Co. Someone had left a valve open in the line near Highway 111, resulting in the flooding, causing many to think the winds had created that havoc also.

Portions of the downtown area underwent a 15-minute blackout (See Season's First, Page 2)

JFK, Adenauer In Crisis Search

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer conferred again today for almost two hours in their search for understanding on how to blunt the Soviet pressure on Berlin.

They then adjourned to the executive mansion for a presidential luncheon in honor of the visiting German leader. Adenauer and Kennedy also arranged to meet again late today to continue their detailed discussion on Berlin and other cold war problems.

The way was cleared for the top-level talks by a preliminary Kennedy-Adenauer discussion Monday and a meeting this morning between the defense and foreign ministers of the two governments.

The U.S. and German leaders at their initial session late Monday ranged in general terms over "the current situation in Berlin and Germany and the current relations between their two countries," according to their official spokesmen.

Informed sources said the emphasis during their two hours together, all but 15 minutes of it entirely alone except for interpreters, was on Berlin and NATO.

While both sides were silent concerning any details of the conversations so far, American officials have made it clear that Kennedy wants to convince Adenauer that the Western Allies should maintain a flexible attitude in seeking a "reasonable basis" for negotiating with Russia on Berlin.

This will be Campbell's second try for the party nomination. He ran a close second to Charles H. Jameson of Corona in a three-man race in 1960. Campbell was top man in the Imperial Valley voting, and carried a large part of Riverside county outside the county seat city and Corona.

During the past year he has maintained an active interest in the congressional post and has made numerous addresses to party and civic organizations.

WEATHER

Desert Area Forecast:

Mayor Frank M. Bogert presented a commendation to Culver Nichols, president of the association, citing Nichols' "dedicated public service."

The commendation was given in behalf of the "entire citizenry of Palm Springs," Bogert read.

Nichols was guest of honor at the luncheon which also honored city council members and public works officers who aid the development.

Heavy-Hearted Rocky Speeds To New Guinea

EN ROUTE WITH ROCKEFELLER (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller flew toward New Guinea today with heavy-hearted news that searchers had failed to find a trace of his missing son along the island's treacherous southern coast.

Reports from Hollandia said that as darkness fell on New Guinea today Dutch air, sea and land search parties reported no sign of Michael Rockefeller, 23.

He was last seen Sunday swimming with empty gas cans through a strong tide and shark infested waters toward New Guinea's south coast from which he and a Dutch companion had drifted.

The companion, R.J. Wassink, was found Monday floating on their native prahu (boat) 22 miles at sea. He was reported to have said Rockefeller's "restless nature" made him try to make the shore instead of waiting in the boat for aid to come.

Michael's father, governor of New York, and his twin sister, Mrs. Mary Strawbridge, stopped over Monday night in Hawaii and then took off today in a chartered Pan American World Airways Boeing 707 jet headed for Biak, Dutch New Guinea. The plane was scheduled to arrive late this afternoon.

PALM CANYON ASSOCIATION WILL CONTINUE OPERATION

The Palm Canyon Association celebrated the practical completion of its organization purpose with a luncheon at the Racquet Club Monday, and informally voted to continue operation.

Mayor Frank M. Bogert presented a commendation to Culver Nichols, president of the association, citing Nichols' "dedicated public service."

The commendation was given in behalf of the "entire citizenry of Palm Springs," Bogert read.

Nichols told the 44 luncheon guests that Palm Canyon Drive is "the backbone of Palm Springs."

After congratulating the city on completion of the improvement of the entryway, Nichols called for study of other civic problems. He told the four council members and city employees present that the association would help study such future problems as the impact of the tramway on the city economy, and the possible development of an entrance from Highway 99 via Vista Chino. He repeated earlier statements that the bureau of public roads had approved an interchange at the extension of Vista Chino and Date Palm Drive at the highway.

Lessor, acting as master of ceremonies, called for continuance of the association, to permit a unified voice to the city council. He cited the problem of one-way streets on Palm Canyon Drive and Indian Avenue as one of the "political level" problems to be reviewed by citizens. Lessor said that "the voice of the citizens can best be heard where a group clarifies issues."

News In Brief

BERLIN (UPI) — The East German Communists today put the finishing touches to their reinforcement of the Iron Curtain cutting Berlin in two despite a rock-throwing, tear-gas battle between East and West Berliners along the walled border.

Among the estimated 7,000 West Berlin youths who left a huge rally to march toward the hated Communist wall, about 1,000 managed to evade West Berlin police at Wilhelmstrasse and touched off the biggest tear-gas battle since the Communists closed the border Aug. 13.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — An opposition streetcorner speaker was cheered today when he attacked the United States for "intervention" in Dominican Republic affairs and criticized the government.

The speaker, identified as an officer of the leftist 14th of June movement, was acclaimed by more than a thousand screaming, flag-waving youths.

POCA, W. Va. (UPI) — A diesel engine on a New York Central freight train apparently uncoupled from the lead unit today, derailed 32 cars, caused a bridge to collapse and then plunged 40 feet into the Poca River.

State police said brakeman C.E. Mulford, 30, and fireman R. A. Turner, about 45, both of Hobson, Ohio, were missing and presumed dead. The other four crewmen survived.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Former President Eisenhower said Monday night the Soviet Union does not dare start a global war for fear of being "drubbed" by the United States.

"I today believe we are the strongest military nation in the world. There's none to challenge us," Eisenhower told 7,000 persons at a quarterly meeting of the local chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Indian U.N. delegate V. K. Krishna Menon today urged the nuclear powers to impose a moratorium on nuclear testing before making another attempt to negotiate a test ban treaty.

A PLEA for maturing wisdom in American government was issued by John Morley, world-traveling lecturer-writer, who addressed the Palm Springs Woman's Club Monday evening. Morley sees "more hope than hopelessness" in world today. (Desert Sun Photo)

John Morley Declares Berlin Great Victory

Globe-girdling newsman and public speaker John Morley last night termed Berlin "the greatest U.S. victory in modern times, despite the crisis."

Morley, making his annual appearance before the Palm Springs Woman's Club, explained that nearly three million refugees from East Germany have escaped through Berlin. These refugees, fleeing West without outside inducement, present the greatest public humiliation of communism, Morley said.

Poor Trust

Morley quoted Gen. Patrick Hurley, ambassador to China under Truman, roving ambassador under Roosevelt, and secretary of war in the Hoover administration, as tracing the beginning of the Berlin crisis to 1943. Chiang Kai-shek refused to attend a conference with "atheistic Stalin," despite urgings from Roosevelt. Hurley reported. Subsequently, the United States and Britain dealt with Russia alone at Yalta and Potsdam when "the United States thought it could trust the Reds." Secret covenants at these meetings led to the surrounding of Berlin by 109 miles of Red-held territory, Morley said.

'More Hope'

Morley emphasized that there is more "hope than hopelessness" in the world, but that crisis will continue "during our lifetime." He asserted the need for well trained and "mature" leadership. "We can never substitute anything for maturing wisdom in foreign affairs," Morley observed, adding that "youth invites youth to service in high office." As an example, he cited the 29-year-old who had been the Kennedy advisor on Cuba and South America until this past week, when he was transferred to the State Department.

Plan Flopped

The plan for aid for the Cuban patriots planning an invasion of Cuba was well done by both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations until "somebody pulled a switch on the last hour of the last day," Morley emphasized. The resultant withdrawal of vital air cover sent "2,000 men to be slaughtered by Castro's tanks," he said.

Morley said that Russia is filling power vacuums in undeveloped nations because the United States seeks to "rush history." He termed the Peace Corps a waste of time and money. "I've talked with many of them. They are nice 20 to 25-year-olds. But at that age their interests are personal, not international, relations." He suggested that the millions be given to Christian missionaries who are already well grounded in their areas.

Morley stated that the "world will forever have the misfit and the adjusted person. In the world there is no such thing as nations of permanent friends or permanent enemies. There are only nations with permanent interests." He concluded that "if the UN could work, you could get along without it anyway."

Floods Hit Bel Air's Burned Area

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Residents of the recently burned out Bel Air district waded through mounds of mud and silt today struggling to prevent further flood damage from predicted morning showers in the wake of Southern California's heaviest rain storm in more than a year.

The storm clouds shifted around Southern California by dawn leaving a trail of showers and snow flurries in mountains north of the burned over area, to the east in the San Bernardino Mountains and down the coast in the vicinity of San Diego.

Monday's storm brought nearly two inches of rain to the Santa Monica Mountains which just two weeks ago were ravaged by the worst fire in Los Angeles history. Torrents of water rushed down the denuded hillsides carrying waves of dirt and debris that periled mountain homes and flooded canyon streets.

With no watershed to halt the flow, mudslides caused serious damage to five or six homes in the fire area, leaving up to a foot of mud inside the buildings.

Season's First Storm

This morning about 7:30 with the power failed because of the wind-damaged lines. Luckily most business hadn't opened and few were inconvenienced.

Burned Areas Hit

The slight inconvenience experienced by desert residents was overshadowed by more trouble in other Southern California points. Mud slides covered cars and homes in Los Angeles areas recently denuded by fires, and pre-rain earth tremors were reported in Long Beach and Orange County points yesterday morning.

Across the country, show covered the east, and bitter cold and mist plagued many midwestern sections. Fog cut visibility to zero at Midland, Texas, the heat went off at Brownsburg, Ind., and the mercury went to minus-4 at Butte, Mont.

Los Angeles received much more rain than the desert area and had most other Southern California points had lower temperature readings yesterday than the 63 high in Palm Springs. Los Angeles reported 39 and 1.35 inches rainfall. Newport Beach had over half an inch of rain — 56 — and high temperature reading in Riverside was 54 degrees.

Purse Snatcher Gets $69, Cards

A man wrenched a purse containing $69 plus credit cards and personal papers from a woman bank employee and fled into the dark drizzle at 5:20 p.m. Monday. Lucille M. Pontius, 54, of 475 Camino Parocela, told officers the purse snatcher ran up behind her in a parking lot in the 100 block of North Palm Canyon Drive, grabbed her purse, and fled on foot.

Air Drunk Ban 'Merely Official'

By United Press International

The scheduled airlines insisted today that new federal regulations banning drunks from planes merely makes it official.

The airlines said they've been grounding tipsy travelers for years.

A spokesman for Trans World Airlines said, "It doesn't seem that this regulation requires anything we haven't been doing right along."

But the Federal Aviation Agency felt it was necessary to get the rules down on paper, despite an Air Transport Association spokesman's statement that "the airlines aren't exactly pleased."

The regulation which went into effect today requires the airlines to bar any passenger who appears to have had one too many.

Previously, pilots had sole responsibility for keeping the inebriated out of the air. Now the responsibility will be shared by ticket agents, ramp employees and stewards.

Airlines spokesmen at Los Angeles said they would continue to keep obvious drunks off commercial aircraft, but they pointed out that they might face lawsuits if they attempted to bar the less obvious inebriates.

At Seattle, a spokesman for Alaska Airlines said employees have been refusing an average of one drunk a month for some time. The line anticipated no trouble under the new regulation because most of those who were blocked from boarding planes came back after sobering up.

American Airlines said at Chicago it has had its passenger service managers waylaying drunks for years. "You can spot them a block away. We help them get a room to sleep it off."

Spokesmen for United Air Lines and Western Airlines had cautious praise for the Federal Aviation Agency's new ruling. United has favored eliminating serving liquor aboard planes.

A United spokesman at Chicago said "This law gives you more authority not to carry passengers. Before it was the captain who had sole responsibility. Now everyone who comes into contact with the passengers shares the responsibility."

A Western Airlines spokesman at San Francisco said, "We're going to watch them climbing those stairs and if they wobble they won't get on."

The regulations were prompted by 15 incidents in the past five years, including physical assaults on crew members, gun waving and attempts to break into cockpits. In one case, five drunks held a pilot in the cabin, forcing the copilot to make an emergency landing in a heavy snowstorm.

Vandals Smash All Windows in Parked Car Here

Police today are seeking clues to vandals who smashed all the windows in a car parked in the rain in the 1100 block of North Palm Canyon Drive yesterday. Vincent Farrell, 38, of 558 Cottonwood, told police he had parked his car at the site early Monday, and drove away with a friend. When he returned to get his car yesterday afternoon, all windows were smashed. Farrell said. He added that he did not think it could have been done for personal spite.

In 1933, William C. Bullitt began his service as the first United States ambassador to the Soviet Union. In 1949, former Secretary of State James Byrnes warned that the federal government's fiscal and taxation policies threatened to saddle the nation with socialism and to lead to a concentration of government in Washington. In 1960, the first direct clash between the Congolese army and United Nations' forces in the Congo occurred in Leopoldville.

A thought for the day: American poet Walt Whitman said: "Once fully enslaved, no nation, state, city of this earth, ever afterward resumes its liberty."

Tension Relief Reason of Fire

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — To relieve "tension and nervousness."

That was the reason a former mental patient gave sheriff's deputies for starting the Little Tujuanga-Kagel Canyon and Sierra Madre fires as well as nearly a dozen others.

Sheriff Peter Pitchess said Donald Roland Dana, 32, made the confession Monday. He was arrested Saturday when investigators traced the license number of his car which was sighted on the scene of a fire in San Gabriel Canyon.

The unemployed barber told deputies, "there were so many I can't remember them all. 'I'm sorry it happened now. I tried not to endanger any buildings or people.'"

"I can't put it into words. It's just one of those things I did to relieve tension."

The most disastrous fires which deputies said Dana admitted setting were the Little Tujuanga-Kagel Canyon blaze.

The largest police association in the world is New York City's Patrolmen's Benevolent Association which has 26,000 members.

Board Will Air Area Water Need

Herbert Samson, chairman of the Desert Water Agency organization, said today that a committee will meet tomorrow morning at the chamber of commerce to hear reports from its engineer and attorney.

Number of acre feet to be sought annually in a contract with the state, will probably be fixed at the meeting. The Desert Agency was organized only recently and the need of the area when the huge water project is completed, has not yet been determined.

Study is Under Way

Albert Webb of Riverside, engineer for the group, and James Krieger, also of Riverside, attorney versed in water problems, have spent some time in Los Angeles and Sacramento studying the Feather River project as it affects Palm Springs and will make their reports at tomorrow's meeting.

Three of the five county water agencies in this area have already indicated the amount needed and are seeking contracts with the state.

Coachella Valley County Water District, which has been functioning for a half century, is asking the state for 60,000 acre feet annually from the 1.8 million acre feet the project is to furnish Southern California.

Desert Hot Springs County Water District is asking 20,000 acre feet annually and North Palm Springs district is asking 10,000 acre feet.

Studying Needs

San Geronimo Pass agency and the Palm Springs agency requests are expected to be below the Coachella area proposals. The amounts to be asked are under study.

Only two Southern California agencies have so far completed contracts with the state for water. They are the Metropolitan Water District, which includes some of the western portion of Riverside County and the San Bernardino Valley Municipal Water District.

Already Over Capacity

The MWD has a contract for 1.5 million acre feet and San Bernardino, 90,000 acre feet.

Although the Desert and Pass agencies have not yet filed their requests, prospective users have already asked 1,953,500 acre feet from the planned 1,800,000 acre feet capacity for Southern California.

State officials, however, anticipate duplications will reduce the total asked.

Housewife In Balloon Flight Mark

OKEMA, Okla. (UPI) — A 56-year-old housewife today held the unofficial women's world balloon endurance record, topping the Russian mark by nearly six hours.

Mrs. Alfred (Constance) Wolf, wife of a Philadelphia attorney, battled freezing temperatures and rain but kept her 65-foot balloon aloft 40 hours, three minutes. Two Russian women in 1948 set the record time of 34 hours, 21 minutes aloft.

She did not eat or sleep during the record flight which carried her from Big Spring, Tex., Oklahoma and Kansas. She landed near here shortly before dark Monday.

Grudge Against Russians

"It was a private grudge of mine," she said. "But I'm sick and tired about the Russian's infallibility on records of this type. I picked a silly thing to settle a grudge—a balloon."

She said bad weather thwarted attempts for the record flight near Indianapolis, Ind., before she headed into Texas with her two groundcrew members, Anthony Fairbank, Swarthmore, Pa., and William Reinhart, Plymouth Meeting, Pa.

The 138-pound woman said she never planned to rise over 5,000 feet but once soared to 13,500 searching for warm sunlight to dry and expand her balloon. At one time it had sunk so close to earth she talked to persons on the ground.

"Because of the rain," she said, "the balloon got sloppy."

She said cloudy skies early Monday kept her from getting sunlight necessary to dry the 40-foot bag, filled with 34,000 cubic feet of hydrogen.

Never Knew Location

Sunday night she said a group of "college kids" spotted her and insisted that she come down.

"I was after a record and I was only waiting for the sun to come up, I told them," said Mrs. Wolf.

She said she never knew her location and "that was the most frightening thing."

She left Big Spring, Tex., early Sunday and landed here at 5:00 p.m. EST Monday. She spent Monday night at a hotel here and planned to motor back to Philadelphia later today.

The friendly, romantic mistletoe which hangs as a Christmas decoration is a far cry from its forest cousin, a dwarf species. The latter is a parasite that stunts and weakens pine and fir trees, ultimately killing its victims.

C. C. Parade Awards Told

CATHEDRAL CITY — A dozen awards were presented to participants in the big Cactus Jumpers Jamboree Parade here, as this resort community revived an annual feature of a decade Friday.

The parade, featuring a variety of displays ranging from pre-World War I Model "T" cars to a special church float, was led by Grand Marshal William K. Demarey, the assistant postmaster here, dressed as the bewhiskered Uncle Sam at the head of the varied legion which marched before an estimated 2,000 people.

The Palm Springs High School Band, marching in sparkling precision, and the brightly-clad, lithe pom-pom girls gained first place in the teen-age group award. Mrs. Crowe's Palm Springettes won the children's group trophy, and the World War I Veterans were cited as top adult group.

First place in the comic group section went to the Box T Trailer Park. Berton Lamb, owner-driver of a vintage Dodge, shared the antique car award with Lou Arnel, who chugged sedately in a 1915 brass-bound Model Tom.

Evolution Appeal

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Tennessee Unitarian Conference has adopted a resolution calling for repeal of the law forbidding teaching of evolution in Tennessee schools.

John Scopes, a teacher at Dayton, Tenn., was convicted of violating the law in the "monkey trial" of 1925, which attracted national attention.

Top equestrian award went to Nancy Kyker for her single horse entry. Float awards went to the Gay 90s, winners of a special award. The church float prize was won by the Pathway to Light group. Special couples award went to Thomas Killfaile and Sherry Morehouse. Comic individual award was won by Mary Pauline Lamkin, and comic sports car award went to Ed Donahue.

Communist Party in Defiance of Deadline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Communist party apparently defied a midnight deadline to register with the government as an agent of the Soviet Union.

Justice Department officials said today that the party now stands liable for a fine of $10,000 each and every day it fails to do so.

The registration deadline was set last June when the Supreme Court upheld a finding by the Subversive Activities Control Board that the U.S. Communists are an arm of the Russian government.

The Communists said in advance they would defy the order. But the Justice Department had kept its switchboards open to receive any communication indicating a last-minute change of mind.

But none came before the clock struck midnight.

Unless the party mailed the appropriate registration forms postmarked before today, it is now in violation of the Internal Security Act of 1960.

Michael Created Demand on Heads

AMSTERDAM, Holland (UPI) — Dutch officials warned Michael Rockefeller to stop seeking headhunter trophies because he was "creating a demand which could not be met without bloodshed," a Dutch official said Monday.

Dr. J. Boendermaker, deputy governor general of Dutch New Guinea who is back in Holland on a short visit, said he was well acquainted with the 23-year-old son of the governor of New York.

"I knew Rockefeller well since he arrived as a member of the Harvard Peabody Museum expedition to study the headhunter tribes in central New Guinea," said Boendermaker. "He was going after headhunter relics along the coast of the Asmas Territory."

"Michael wanted to buy carved shields, totem poles and human heads from the local population. He planned to go down the island's river and cross the sea to Agats village where 2,000 recently pacified members of a headhunter tribe live."

"Michael's presence there led to a tremendous increase in local trade, especially in beautifully carved and painted human heads."

"A few weeks ago it was reported to me that members of the headhunter tribe approached the area administrator for permission to go headhunting 'for one evening only, please, sir.'"

"This was because Michael was offering ten steel hatchets for one head. We had to warn him off as he was creating a demand which could not be met without bloodshed. The headhunter tribes have been pacified, but occasionally bloodshed occurs."

Boendermaker said the coast is "typically mangrove, with endless mudflats and overgrown mangrove trees stretching for miles." "In most cases," he said, "there is no hard soil ten or more miles from the sea. Nobody lives in that region except crocodiles and sharks in the sea. The difference between high and low tides is tremendous."

Boendermaker said the headhunting tribes live inland from the sea and "there is little danger of Michael meeting any if he stays near the coastline."

The Peabody expedition was dissolved in September but Michael returned to start buying for the collection for the Ethnological Museum in Holland with $30,000 his family advanced, Boendermaker said.

"We liked him very much," Boendermaker said. "He was young, impulsive and full of enthusiasm. I think he'll manage to get through. He is a strongly built lad and has brains, although I must say it was not wise to leave his prahu (native boat), for once he is on the coastline it will be difficult to spot him from the air. Nevertheless, I believe the (Dutch) navy will find him."

Schedule Confab

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will hold his next news conference at 10 a.m. EST Wednesday, Nov. 29, according to the White House. It will not be broadcast or televised live.

Jet Collision Kills Marine, Eight-Year-Old

KAILUA, Hawaii (UPI)—A Marine pilot and an 8-year-old boy were killed Monday night when a jet bomber collided with another plane, narrowly missed a school where a PTA meeting was in progress, and smashed into two homes.

The dead boy was identified as Stephen Schmitz, son of Coast Guard Cmdr. Frank C. Schmitz, whose home was demolished in the fiery crash.

The identity of the pilot was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

A Marine spokesman said the two planes, A4D "Skyhawk" attack bombers, collided on an approach to the Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station. One pilot landed safely, but the other plane crashed in flames near the Kailua Elementary School.

PLAYHOUSE GUILD opened its 1961-62 season with a luncheon style show at El Mirador, raising funds for its two major projects, the American Concert Ballet Company in January and "The Little Circus" in April, both entertainment planned

Style Show Is 'Fantastical'

Tables were decorated with bouquets of bright pink chrysanthemums and gladioli and smart programs in matching shades, as several hundred guests gathered in El Mirador's Silver Palm Room to watch the parade of fabulous LeMaire fashions presented by Dorothy Gray Inc., under the sponsorship of the Palm Springs Playhouse Guild.

With dramatic flair reminiscent of his Oscar-winning film designing, LeMaire, who commented the show, saved for his finale, a long and full gown of beige and brown chiffon, that swept the floor in the back and had a cunningly folded bodice, extremely feminine in feeling.

The model which he called the Golden Thistle, had an empire feeling. Made of silk tulle, it had graduated-in-size polka dots, some enormous and some tiny, in citron color, and a matching stole. A two-piece beige oatmeal dress, buttoned down the back to the hemline, had a matching three quarters length coat.

There were numerous instances of the blouse back, and the majority of the gowns had a long and slender line, some with free-floating panels either front or back. Very new and tres chic were the flutter coats of chiffon that lent illusion to even the sheath gowns. Another innovation was LeMaire's chandelier skirt that was three-tiered, with very low cut bodice and string straps.

Barbara Foster modeled a black lace over brown, with pearls, sables, gloves and tiny pillbox hat that had women murmuring, "how well dressed can you get?"

LeMaire, who obviously didn't know that Palm Springs is very fashion conscious and has some of the best-dressed women in the country at its formal balls, didn't include many ball gowns in his show, but it was a smart and sophisticated collection, and the bronze gown, with beaded banding at hem and neckline, was daringly slit high in the back. It was long and clinging, but borrowed grace from long and free floating panels and looked enchanting on Dzo Dzo.

Guild President Mrs. John F. Luccareni welcomed the room full of guests at the benefit affair, which was so successful that it assures the planned program of two children's programs, the American Concert Ballet Company in January and "The Little Circus" in April. Golden Door cosmetics were table favors and

Dr. Anne-Marie Bennstrom was there to present the week at Golden Door to Mrs. Roy F. Cummins of Smoke Tree Ranch. Co-chairmen of the luncheon show were Mmes. Dolph Oberfel and Edward Rothbart. In the words of Dr. Bennstrom's mother, who is visiting here from Sweden, the show was "fantastical."

Millikens Entertain at Cocktails at Thunderbird

Candelabra complemented the hot and cold hors d'oeuvres table, when Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milliken entertained for cocktails in a private room at Thunderbird Country Club.

Guests were entertained by Tex Kidwell's guitar playing and vocals, and surprised by the impromptu piano offerings of Oscar-winning Adolph Deutsch, who was present with his wife.

Present at the early - evening affair were: Messrs. and Mmes. Alfred Gibson, Arthur Letherby, James Harstad, Ralph Hale, Henry Pours, Andrew Mosley, J. F. O'Connor, R. F. Pearson, Harold Smith, Adrian Schwick, Dudley Steele, Reginald Venable, Tom Brown, Kay Olsen and Edgar Schill.

Talk Shows Fashion Is International

"Fashion is definitely international," asserted Miss Bernice Woodard, manager of Robinsons Palm Springs, when she addressed the Palm Springs Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Stressing that the most impoverished woman in the most primitive country is fascinated by jewelry, color and fabrics, she said these interests often influence world wide fashion.

Displaying dolls dressed in authentic costumes from the many countries she has visited, Miss Woodard delighted the group with her impressions of foreign women and their clothes.

President Mrs. Charles Sakin announced that Mrs. Cornelius Mathie has been elected 1st vice president, since Mrs. Florence Hart Larned had resigned because of illness.

New members welcomed by Mrs. Mathie were: Mmes. Robert Anderson, Donald Aiken, Hubert Baldwin, Kenneth Christy, Emmett Connors, J. S. Doland, Robert Fischer, Albert Helbing, J. H. Johnston, Roy McCall, Paul Miller, H. H. Seeley, Norman Strong, H. Warren Wirth, Douglas Young,

Tea Fetes Mothers And Debs

Music on the patio by the High School Combo and an informal fashion showing of white ballgowns, courtesy of Robinsons Palm Springs highlighted the Mother-Daughter tea, given at the Mission Road home of Mrs. Lester Selig on Sunday afternoon.

Robinsons' Manager Miss Bernice Woodard had arranged to have the gowns flown out from New York especially for the tea show, which was modeled by Debs and commented by Barbara Foster of the Conover School. Modeling were Susan Scholl, Deb President Carol Sage, Pam Duncan and Sherry Good. A yellow and white color scheme prevailed at the tea table, which was presided over by Mrs. Austin McManus, honorary Deb, and Mrs. Cliff Brown, whose husband represents the public relations firm for the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring organization. Masses of bright chrysanthemums from the Seligs' Banning Heights ranch home were used throughout the house.

Open-faced and ribbon sandwiches and petits fours were served with tea and coffee.

Door prizes, also donated by Robinsons, went to Mrs. George Scholl and Vicki Thompson.

The tea, which is an annual affair arranged by Deb Patronesses, was co-hosted by Mrs. Joel Stone, with other Patronesses, Mmes. Robert Backstrom, George Berkey, Walter McManus, Carl Schoos, and Debs' Honorary Advisor Hildy Crawford assisting.

Mrs. Austin Sellery, wife of the Palm Springs High School principal, was a special guest.

Next event planned for the Debs will be the annual Deb Ball on Dec. 15, which will be under the chairmanship of Mrs. McManus and Mrs. Selig.

FIRST ORCHID BOWL was served to Frank Bogert and his wife, Janice, at the gala opening of Aloha Jhoe's by pretty waitress, Latucia Rossi. The Bogerts joined more than 250 guests in Milton F. Kreis' unique and exotic new restaurant. They found Aloha Jhoe's easy to find on South Palm Canyon Drive by trailing the Tiki god torch to the eatery's be-masked entrance door. (Gayle Photo)

There was a French atmosphere to El Mirador's Starlight Court as France's First Lady of Champagne, Mme. Elizabeth Bollinger was honored at a reception hosted by Importer Richard L. Blum. Guests exhausted their full French vocabulary, being "enchante" over meeting the gracious woman, who heads one of France's great champagne companies and over the vintage champagne bearing her label.

From an old French family, Mme. Bollinger maintains an apartment in Paris and a chateau in Ay. Accompanying her to this country for her first visit in 10 years, was her handsome young nephew Christian Bollinger.

The Al Hunts, who had attended the reception which Bernice and Mac McHenry had given for Mme. Bollinger at the Tail o' the Cock the previous night, were at this one too, and Nellis was looking very glamorous in a wig-like hat of white dotted net, with a jeweled black velvet bow for accent.

Also in the crowd paying their respects to the distinguished visitor, were the George Hearsts, Glenn Austins, Frank Bogerts, Earl Coffman, Dan Wagners, Richard Levins, Sam Stuarts, Roger De Sarno, Ethel Strebe and John Harutin, Frank Harper, the Joe Buccinos, Eddie King, Jim Runtz, Herbert Jemsons, Bill Walsh, Mel Sorans, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Minasian, numerous hotel men and distributors, and from the Julius Wile Co., party hosts, were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harris, Jim Rigio and Harold Bissonett.

The 1955 vintage champagne was first introduced by Mme. Bollinger three weeks ago at a champagne tasting party in London, and is being acclaimed as one of the great champagnes. She describes this vintage as "a full bodied wine with elegance and finesse... an unusually well-balanced wine," but she says it better in French.

A champagne bottle carved out of ice decorated the hors d'oeuvres table which held such temptations as tiny paste puffs stuffed and iced with cream cheese, rumakins in a chafing dish and assorted canapés that add up fast on the calory counter.

This was a busy and hectic weekend... and someone (lil old name dropper me) wasn't living right. Missing the Aloha Jhoe's opening, arriving late at the Pathfinders' Saturday morning meeting, not winning the door prize given away at the Playhouse Guild style show, having a couple of lines in Saturday's column dropped that said Lillian Agar staged that beautiful style show at the Tennis Club, having a photographer blow all the pictures taken of the Mother-Daughter Tea (after Robinsons had flown the ball gowns out from New York)... all add up to Monday morning desperation. Now's the time to start thinking about being extra thankful on Thanksgiving Day... that these things don't occur often.

Thanksgiving at the Ranch Club will be a family affair with many local members and their guests joining the non-resident members who are motoring down for the long weekend. This will be a first Thanksgiving in their new 16th fairway home at San Jacinto Country Club for Joyce and Noel Clarke and their three daughters. Holiday houseguests will include Jo and Gavin Herbert, Paul and Renee Coates, Larry and Venise Finley and Bernice and Mac McHenry, who will be playing hooky from their three famous restaurants in Los Angeles.

Every house in the Ranch Club Estates will be similarly festive either by owners or holiday visitors, including the Allen Bowns of Los Angeles, Ferline and Fabian Bowen, the Lester Ludwigs of Providence, R. I., Carl Tylers of Canyon City, Colo., and many more.

Host Roy Bradley, back at the Ranch Club, says there are many early reservations for those turkey chefs Chef Mariano is stuffing.

Anyone with an interest in genealogy just has to be fascinated by the backgrounds of the cosmopolitan group of people who come to the desert. For instance, take Frederick Stearns of Palm Coves. We were sipping champagne at a Tennis Club party, and it came out in the conversation that he is a descendant of one of California's earliest families, Abel Stearns and his wife Arcadia, whose grandfather was Juan Bandini, and who gave her thousands of acres of land for her dowry.

And... under the heading of a small world... it came out at the same party that Rilla and Earl F. Merritt were honeymooning in Hawaii this summer and

Aloha Jhoe's Opening Has Tiki Gods and Royal Decor

Polynesia has come to Palm Springs!

It burst upon the desert scene this weekend at a glittering opening that taxed the 250-seat capacity of Palm Springs' newest and most unique restaurant, Aloha Jhoe's, in Cameron Center.

Guests were greeted by the giant royal Tiki, Aloha Jhoe, Polynesian god of food and drink, and the torch-lit image seemed to beckon guests to the red entrance door, set with miniature metal masks.

Designer Lyle R. Wheeler and his wife, Donna, were beaming as one and all acclaimed the royal Polynesian decor fashioned by the noted movie art director and his partner, John F. De Cuir.

Wheeler has just completed an assignment as production designer and art director of the multi-million-dollar-budgeted movie, "Advise and Consent." His deft touch — which won him five Academy Awards starting with "Gone With the Wind" and including the "King and I" and "Diary of Anne Frank" — was much in evidence in the decorative patterns. De Cuir is presently in Rome looking after his art director's chores on "Cleopatra."

Another target for lavish praise was Aloha Jhoe's celebrated Cantonese Chef, Suey Lee. His Cantonese delicacies more than delighted the epicure in every guest.

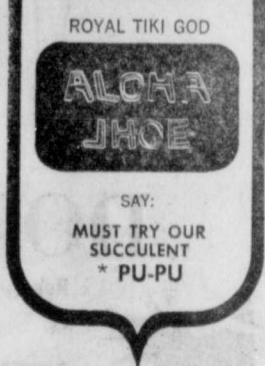

First of a parade of intriguing tropical drinks, the Orchid Bowl, served amid the reverberating sound of a Polynesian gong, went to Palm Springs' Mayor, Frank Bogert and his wife, Janice. It was served by a pretty island girl wearing an exotic headdress.

The service was unusually smooth-running, efficient and expeditious for an opening night and won owner-operator Milton F. Kreis bountiful kudos.

Passing through the entrance door, guests were greeted by an ancient, incense-burning Tiki set against the bar's lighted backdrop of cross sections of bamboo. The Tiki mask motif is carried out in the lighted wall lamps with brilliant headdress and in the table lamps.

Bamboo is utilized at strategic spots throughout the dining room and cocktail lounge, creating the illusion of bamboo forests. Highlighting the interior decor is a huge replica of Aloha Jhoe festooned with a feather headdress, that is a focal point on the face of the fireplace in the main dining room.

The gay opening crowd included the Arthur Presses, Don Camerons, Dan Wagners, Gene Fretzes, D. D. Watsons, Lew Levys, Fred Hopes, Stephen Abels, of Los Angeles, Scotty Rubin and Florence Horn, Charles Wohlsteiner and Julie Copeland, James E. Grants, Bud Imesons, Bill Bertu-

New Business Directory at Hot Springs

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — The Desert Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce, recently merged with the Rental Owners Association here, has authorized publication by the rental owners of a new business directory here, George Mueller, chamber president, announced.

The rental owners, headed by Michael Michalweitz, had recently reached an apparent impasse with members of the newly-formed Spatel association, headed by C. M. Bartush. A disagreement flared when 21 motel owners submitted identical three-line ads for the directory. The copy referred to possession by the hotels of their own hotel water mineral wells.

A recent controversy has been fanned over the qualities of natural hot mineral water versus heated mineral waters. Austin Finch, head of the Desert Hot Springs County Water District, has announced that all water pumped by the service district ranges from 87 degrees Fahrenheit to approximately 92 degrees. The water is cooled in transmission to customers.

NEW LEADER of Scottish Terriers in California is Champion Garlu Haggis Beggis (Mr. Tweed), shown here with owner Dr. Kenneth Grow of Palm Springs (left), Daisy Austad, handler, and Anton Karbel, judge of the Riverside Kennel Club Show in Hemet, in which the dog won "best of breed." He has been best of breed in his last ten consecutive shows.

LIKE WESTERN was this square-dance conclave at the Pavilion, as visiting do-si-dosers from Los Angeles and Phoenix joined Palm Springs for some calico choreography under the sponsorship of the city recreation department. Osa Mathews was chairman of the event, as Bob Ruff, Whittier, and Johnny Schultz, Phoenix, supplied the words for the music.

Marines Guests At Big PAL Day

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Local business and civic leaders played host to more than 30 Marines at the annual PAL Day luncheon in the Hi-Desert community.

The luncheon, sponsored by the U.S.O. and the local chamber of commerce, featured Rabbi Isaac Block of Desert Hot Springs as the guest speaker.

PAL Day originated in Bellville, Ind., 10 years ago for the purpose of bringing a better understanding in the community between the townspeople and the military. "The purpose is the same today," stated Major F. F. Holmlund, Salvation Army, director of the U.S.O. here.

Otto Risner, president of the chamber of commerce, gave the welcoming address to the guests. Brig. Gen. Lewis J. Fields, commanding general of the Base, spoke in reference to the fine work of the U.S.O. The general said that he hoped that PAL Day would not be a single gesture on a particular day, but rather a full time relationship of mutual compatibilities and friendship between the Marines and the townspeople.

Rabbi Block's topic was "We Serve." The Rabbi told of his many tasks while an Air Force Chaplain, stationed in Northern New England. He spoke of the many trials that members of the U.S.O. were subjected to and the joys they received from helping military men and women who were stationed far from their homes and families.

A special feature of the day was the round table introduction. Each civilian introduced his Marine "guest" for the day, to the gathering.

Proceeds from the event went to the U.S.O. for a Thanksgiving dinner to be served at the local

DO-IT-YOURSELF DRY CLEANING TO BE OFFERED IN SPA AREA

"Do-It-Yourself" dry cleaning—something new in the business—is offered to Palm Springs area patrons, according to George Ripley of Desert Hand Laundry.

Better Health... Better Living
NUTRI-BIO

Distributed by Byron B. Hillen Phone 328-2092

The innovation is made possible here by automatic coin-operated dry clean machines, which do an eight-pound load of clothes. According to Ripley, that would average out to about three men's pants, three dresses, three sports shirts and three shirts.

The new dry cleaning center contains the latest in coin-operated wet washers and dryers, according to Ripley. The new process uses the same cleaning fluid as professional cleaners. After the patron puts the clothes in and the correct amount of coins, the automatic part takes over, locking the door and "washing" the clothes, drying them and turning them back to the owner in 30 minutes.

Ripley says that wrinkles are not removed by the process, but the unique tumble action of the process doesn't put them in either. Many garments can be worn with little or no pressing, he added. In addition, pre-set creases and pleats are not removed in the cleaning process.

Any article recommended for dry cleaning by the fabric manufacturer can be cleaned in the new fashion dry cleaner, such as sweaters, skirts, slacks, children's underwear, dresses, jackets, drapes and slipcovers, Ripley said.

Television in Review

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — "Man on the Mountain" is a boy-next-door story that owes nothing to old Andy Hardy movies or new situation comedies.

The Robert Alan Aurthur drama gave CBS-TV's "U.S. Steel Hour" some provocative and meaningful moments Wednesday night as it explored the responsibilities and relationships of a former child prodigy in a world of "normal" people. That world included the boy's unloved and unloving father, who regarded him merely as a receptacle for knowledge.

Cliff Robertson starred as Horace Mann Borden, the genius who spouted Shakespeare and Greek at age three and, when we encountered him Wednesday night, was a semi-recluse in the sixth year of solitary living in a basement apartment and working as a bus boy in a coffee joint.

Into his life, via the girl-next-door route, came a compassionate girl from Iowa, Gerta Blake, portrayed by Salome Jens. Gerta used to take in stray cats back home. Now, in Greenwich Village living with her brother and sister-in-law, she was eager to nurse Borden back to life.

It was a tough job because Borden regarded himself as a "freak and monster" and said things like, "This world is too small, too narrow for a superman." Because of his bitterness toward his dad, played by Paul McGrath, his tack was to avoid social contact and the challenges of life and thereby disappoint none. Gerta got through to him, though, after a lot of talk and some sticky dramatic garnishing.

She made Borden realize that it wasn't the world that was holding him back, or down. It was his own attitude towards it. And so Borden began to live a little.

Robertson, in blending an attitude of emotional damage with mental agility, succeeded in establishing a solid core of credibility around his conduct. Miss Jens tended to let Robertson's crisp delivery affect her own at times, but despite this occasional lapse, I found her exceptionally equipped for the job of generating sympathy and strength.

She has a wholesome face that reflects even the smallest spark of feeling and her bearing is charming and fresh. Tom Donovan's direction helped tie the

Wanted---A Name, Short but Powerful

One-way streets, the Master Plan, blow-sand, yellow striping on the pavements, any one of a variety of other items which can spark an argument here, fade to nothingness in comparison to the importance of a topic which lies just ahead of us.

It is really not the cause of an argument although it could easily lead to one. It is a matter calling for deep, solid, constructive and imaginative thought by every resident of Palm Springs who is all out for the city.

The problem, if you can call it that, is: An appropriate short name for the Mt. San Jacinto Aerial Tramway.

That long title is the way the stupendous project is designated on legal documents and legislative papers. But while this name is complete, thorough and tells what it is all about, it is too long to carry the necessary punch or wallop or what have you, to make it a household name.

The Winter Park Authority, much occupied with the early stages of construction of the Tram, hasn't got around to publicly seeking a short name which can become a national byword but it is safe to venture that they have been thinking about it.

The name, naturally, will be of the utmost importance in publicizing the gigantic project and what it offers to the tourist. It will have to be short, one that is easily remembered. Although short, so that it will stick in the public mind, it will have to be comprehensive enough to tell the story. It will have to be strong enough to make people vow that they will ride to the top and back on the Tram.

The Mt. San Jacinto Aerial Tramway on which construction is progressing satisfactorily, will carry its first passengers in 1963 the target year for completion. Then it will assume top ranking as a major attraction. It will be the greatest in the nation, and the longest reversible tram in the world. It will cost $7.5 million and when the first passenger walks into one of the cable cars it will mark the fulfillment of a vision first seen back in 1935 and more than a quarter century of endeavor by two Villagers, Earl Coffman and Francis Crocker, members of the authority who refused to be sidetracked on their way to the goal despite what, at times, seemed insurmountable obstacles.

There are many superlatives about the tramway which should ignite the imagination of Desert Empire residents in seeking a name which fittingly describes it.

It is already a topic of conversation here and several local residents have suggested names in discussing the giant steel-towered and cabled lift which will enable its patrons to pick their own climate, desert floor or mountain top, in a matter of minutes.

To squeeze all of the superlatives which go with the tramway into a short name that carries a powerful punch seems like a large order. But with the mental capacity available here, it should not be too difficult a task.

The first paying passenger will not board a Tramway car for almost two years. But the Winter Park Authority will undoubtedly want the name well before opening day.

So it's time to start thinking about it now. And to make it good.

Who's Doing the Teetering?

The mere man who essays to comment on current styles for women generally winds up asking Rover to move over.

But the doghouse may soon be less crowded if news dispatches are to be believed. Two trends in women's footwear which have induced scornful remarks from overbold males—pointed toes and spike heels—are on their way out.

The warfare between floor covering manufacturers and the designers and makers of women's shoes seems to have swung to the former. In and around Los Angeles, employers grown frantic by the rising cost of office maintenance, had installed loud speakers which periodically played tape recordings pleading for a little consideration by their women employees. These pleas now seem to have penetrated.

But, as history records, the woman always has the last word. Men should know this by now. For instance, no girl is unduly impressed by the husky football player with his yard-wide but not-all-wool shoulders.

"Aw, he's wearing falsies," they comment.

Similarly, the other day what is known in some circles as a "drug store cowboy" was pontificating on women and their addiction to styles.

"They're slaves to fashion," he snorted. "They'll torture themselves to be in the swim. Look at those spike heels! Not only damaging to floors but uncomfortable and make the wearers teeter."

His companion rose from her chair and walked around him, her gaze centered on the high heels and pointed toes of his cowboy boots.

"Slaves to fashion? Self-torture? Make you teeter? Humph!"

There would be a lot more work done if we weren't living in such a clock-eyed world —Capper's Weekly.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

The Far Side of President Kennedy

WASHINGTON, D. C. There is a side of President Kennedy almost as unvisited as the far side of the moon Mr. Kennedy, the governmental penny-pincher.

"A hard man with the dollar," is the way Budget Director David Bell recently described the Chief Executive in a press conference.

"The lean look is the new look for 1962," chanted Civil Service Commission Chairman John Macy in a recent Pittsburgh speech.

"I have asked each of you," said President Kennedy himself, to a gathering of his Department and Budget agency heads last October 26th, "to exercise the maximum care in scrutinizing all expenditures, tightening requirements, postponing the initiation of deferrable projects and phasing out any acceleration of spending which was instituted as an anti-recession measure."

It all sounds more like Coolidge than Cal himself, and not a little like Mr. Eisenhower a few years ago when he pronounced his public works policy of "no new starts," which Candidate Kennedy hit so hard during the 1960 campaign.

Nevertheless, the quotations are all genuine. So is the spirit which moved the President. Politics and military responsibilities require him to spend with one hand, while his close knowledge of national finances entreat him to save with the other.

Results Are Checked
Wondering if the words meant anything, and if ambivalence could achieve action, your reporter spent a day on the telephone to find out how the Kennedy economy wave was going. Results:

Fred Dutton, White House Special Assistant: Better ask Bell, of the Budget Bureau.

Budget Bureau spokesman: Mr. Bell says that the Bureau doesn't keep tabs on what savings other agencies are making. The reporter would have to call each agency.

Roger Jones, Deputy Under Secretary of State for Administration: Yes, State was economizing, although not because of what the President had said, but because of what the Congress had done. Congress had declined to appropriate all the money requested by State, and it's against the law for an Executive Department to spend money it hasn't got. Therefore, State is rubbing out 500 prospective jobs, some by leaving them vacant, in some cases by firing persons. After such a purge, State is in no condition to react to the President's instructions of abolishing still more jobs.

Philip Schulte of the Civil Service Commission: Yes, the Commission had reduced its regional offices from eleven to ten effective January 2, 1962. This abolition of District Six involves 152 employees, but 60 will certainly remain on the payroll and probably the others will be absorbed. Early in the year, the Commission cut costs by folding its Bureau of Departmental Operations.

Director Followed
Wallace Turner, Assistant for Public Affairs to HEW Secretary Ribicoff: Yes, the Secretary had acted strongly to follow the President's directive. In the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, no persons were fired, but 627 new jobs are left unfilled. Moneywise, Ribicoff has been the big saver at close to $102 million. He cut $138,000 from the budget of his own office. He abandoned $1.7 million worth of "special projects" directly under his personal authority. He ordered Public Health not to spend $78.6 million, Office of Education not to spend $20.6 million, Food and Drugs not to spend $12 million, Vocational Rehabilitation not to spend $1.1 million and Social Security not to spend $316,000. In addition, Ribicoff has a study of welfare spending in the making, another potential saver.

A spokesman for Interior Secretary Udall: Nothing done as yet, but don't worry because Udall "runs a tight ship." Spokesman for Agriculture Secretary Freeman: The Secretary has been abroad and hasn't started economizing, but will. Spokesman for Postmaster General Day: In direct response to the President's directive, the financial experts have worked out a cost reduction program that will yield savings of "many millions of dollars in the near future." Prior to the President's directive, Postmaster General Day has inaugurated a 2,000-unit building plan last January. By September, with the recession checked, the plan had been stopped at about the half-way mark.

With the exception of Treasury, where no response was forthcoming, this is a fair rundown of the service agencies. The Departments of Defense and Justice, at war with foreign and criminal enemies, are elected to benefit from savings elsewhere. So, of course, is the groggy taxpayer, who can't be blamed if he gives a hollow laugh at the subject of Federal thrift.

MORATORIUM OR CREMATORIUM?

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

It's an ill wind
That blows no good,
Blank spaces mark
Where billboards stood

Perhaps you got sand in your eyes, maybe the windshield was pitted. So you said uncomplimentary, perhaps uncouth things about the weather, emphasizing the wind.

But it wasn't all bad. A count of casualties along Billboard Alley, that stretch of Highways 60-70-99 this side of Banning, revealed seven billboards totally down and four more halfway ruined.

The wind did something a lot of people who like their scenery unadorned, have been unable to do. It thinned out the wall of billboards.

NEWS DISPATCHES the other day carried the story of a cornerstone laying in a midwest city that went wrong but nobody minded. It turned out fine.

When the elaborate ceremonies featuring the start of a new structure were completed, it was discovered that the cornerstone had been cemented in upside down. But it didn't make a bit of difference. It read 1961 either way, this being that upside down year.

FRED MEYER who punches the keys on the TTS machine which perforates the tape from which articles just like this one, are maneuvered into lead slugs by the typesetting marvels, handed me a new "upside down" deal today.

It was from a sign posted by the manager of a swimming pool who wanted to change the day it shut down for cleaning purposes and the like.

THE MANAGEMENT decided to close on Mondays and told the man in charge to make up an appropriate sign and post it in a conspicuous place.

So he wrote "NOW NO SWIMS ON MON." Running out of space, he had to abbreviate.

Then he hung the sign but hung it upside down.

It didn't make a bit of difference, either.

SURE, IT'S NOT as plain in this type as it should be but if you don't believe that it reads the same both ways, print it by ballpoint or pencil on a sheet of paper and turn it upside down. It's just the same.

Just like 1961 straight up or bottom side up is always 1961.

Got to get that in now because soon it will be 1962 and there won't be another upside down year until 6009, A.D. I'm afraid I won't make it.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY supervisors plan to pay a reward for information which convicts a litterbug. They want action to keep our roadsides clean.

That reminds me. Russia is always bragging about being ahead of us in producing things. But a look at our roadsides would silence them.

We're way ahead in the production of empty beer cans.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this for four years, and he just won't marry me. He is 28 and I am 24. He doesn't see anyone besides me. His excuse is that he doesn't have enough money saved, which is ridiculous. He and another man own and operate a filling station in partnership.

He lives at home, and saves like a miser. The last time he showed me his bank book he had $5200 saved. Isn't this plenty to get married on? —TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIRED: Yes. Your friend is stalling. Pump him for the "real" reason.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who is very cold and silent to me unless he has a few drinks in him. Then he gets warm and sweet and says the nicest things to me. He is not an alcoholic. In fact, he doesn't really like the taste of liquor, but I know if I want any affection or kindness from him I have a better chance if I pour him a drink. Do you think I am making a mistake by encouraging him to have a little drink or two a couple of times a week? The doctor said it won't hurt him. I don't want to make a drinker out of him, but he is so much nicer drunk. —NEEDING LOVE

DEAR NEEDING: No one is "nicer" drunk. Ask your doctor how you can accomplish the same effect without putting your husband's brain to sleep.

DEAR ABBY: I don't suppose many men write to you, but here's a letter from a man who would like to know what to do with an 18-year-old daughter who is strong, healthy and Lazy with a capital "L." Her mother can be breaking her back with housework, but this daughter looks right through her. She has never once offered to help with a thing. She acts like she is a royal princess who has nothing to do but entertain herself. It burns me up to witness this the few hours I am at home. How can this be corrected? —BURNED FATHER

DEAR FATHER: Your royal "princess" was not trained by her mother (or anyone else) to get a move on and help clean up the royal "palace." Don't blame your daughter for not responding to orders with which she is utterly unfamiliar.

BOB CONSIDINE:

San Antonio Retains Link With Its Historic Past

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—No other American city maintains sturdier or more visible roots with its past than this quiet settlement. The most influential civic organization in town is the Conservation Society. It has been known to reject new business that wished to locate here because the businessmen concerned insisted on purchasing sites associated with a page in local history. It has even preserved a pre-World War I bawdy house.

San Antonio subscribes (in addition to the San Antonio Light) to three bursts of literary nostalgia: "If America forgets where she came from, if the people lose sight of what brought them along, if she listens to the deniers and the mockers, then will begin the rot and dissolution." (Carl Sandburg) "No greater calamity can befall a people than to break utterly with their past." (Gladstone) "A people which takes no pride in the noble achievements of remote ancestors will never achieve anything worthy to be remembered with pride by remote descendants." (Macaulay).

The Alamo remains the prime shrine of the area and its folklore. John Wayne's colossal film about the life and death of its defenders has produced a lot of tourist revenue for the city, but the picture did not run nearly as long here as was expected. The natives knew the story better than the Hollywood scriptwriters.

Generals' Last Stand

The climate, a memory of things past and other lures have made this area the traditional redoubt or last standing ground of the nation's retired military men. More than 100 retired generals live in or around Fort Sam Houston, including such World War II commanders as Simpson of the 9th Army, Hodges of the 7th, and Krueger—who in the Louisiana war games before Pearl Harbor gave full credit for a "victory" over General Drum's Army to his obscure executive officer, Lt. Col. D. D. Eisenhower. It was the first time Ike's name had ever appeared in a nationally circulated news story.

The former President was married here in 1916 to a pretty girl named Mamie Doud who was living out on McCulloch Avenue. He was a second lieutenant fresh out of West Point and picked up a little extra money on the side by coaching St. Mary's University football team. When he came through here recently in an unsuccessful effort to elect Republican John Goode to Congress, Ike went back to the old campus and was delighted to be greeted by Brother Duffy, who taught at St. Mary's during Ike's coaching term and is still teaching.

"What was the name of those twins who were my ends?" Ike asked. "Ferrara? Berrara?"

"Ferrara," Brother Duffy contributed.

Minutes later, in his non-political remarks to the students and faculty, Ike reached back 45 years and said, "I'll never forget these Ferrara twins. They looked so much alike I had to make one of them wear red socks so I could tell them apart."

Davy Crockett Helped

The "Old San Antonio" museum a unit of the Conservation Society, features such "life size" scenes as "The Death of Ben Milam," "Santa Anna's Trial of the Alamo Women," "Bowie Signing His Marriage Contract," and "Dawson Massacre." The captions rumble with such phrases as "Milam was killed by a Mexican sniper sitting high in a cypress tree on the river. He died in Samuel Maverick's arms." And, of course, there's Davy Crockett.

The year Walt Disney resurrected Davy there was an immediate jump of $12,000,000 in the city's tourism trade, and an industrious combing of family trees by the more acute ancestor worshippers hereabouts. Crockett's kiss-off of his native Tennessee, once he "went the whole hog and became a citizen of Texas," as he put it, must be classed with the more emphatic farewells of history. He penned it in verse and sent it to a Nashville newspaper:

"The home I redeemed from the savage and wild,
The home I have loved as a father his child,
The corn that I planted, the fields that I cleared,
The flocks that I raised and the cabin I rear'd,
The wife of my bosom—farewell to ye all!
In the land of the stranger I rise or I fall."

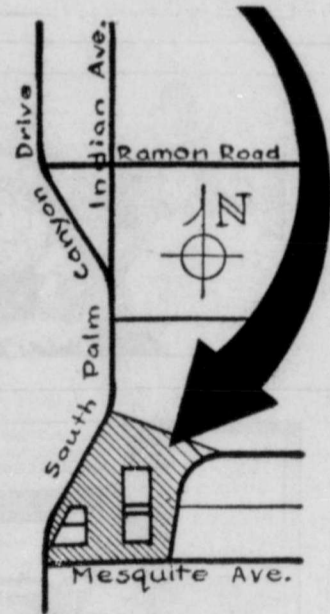

He fell just three months later, with all the others at the Alamo. But his spirit and theirs permeate this old place, where not even routine Saturday night bloodlettings in the poorer quarter disturb the basic tranquility. (Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)

WHY GO TO THE MOON?

For a Stand-Off Look at the Earth

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Why go to the moon—that most familiar of earth's neighbors that is slated for the first stop in man's quest for the unknown?

A group of hard-working California Institute of Technology scientists give at least one good reason for shooting the moon—to learn more about our own planet.

They also have ventured to predict what the first man to land on the moon might find.

"It seems clear to me that from now on we will probably learn more about the earth by going away from it than remaining on it," said Dr. Harrison Brown, professor of geochemistry who, with Dr. Bruce Murray, heads a lunar study group.

Shows Earth's History

"In particular, close study of the moon can teach us much about early earth history," Brown said.

Brown and Murray, who head a six-man study group supported by the Federal Space Agency, said great interest is developing in the moon since crash plans to land a man on it were okayed by President Kennedy.

But, they said perhaps more significant than being the first stepping stone into space, the moon may be imprinted with missing chapters from the history of the solar system.

This is possible, they explain, because the moon is virtually unchanged, unmodified by water and air, and unaffected by a molten core.

There may be, they said, ice on the moon, hidden away in lunar depressions or caves that never are touched by the searing sunlight. The moon's temperature varies between about 250 degrees above Fahrenheit in sunlight to about 240 degrees below zero in the shade.

There is no atmosphere to moderate temperatures since the lunar surface is a vacuum.

Ice may have formed long ago from water incorporated chemically in moon material and later released, Brown said. Or it could have been brought in by meteorite impacts.

Study Color Differences

Color differences on the moon are being studied by the group with the 60-inch reflector telescope at Mt. Wilson.

The group is interested in learning whether these color differences on the moon's flat areas are really color differences or caused by differing reflectivity.

These broad, flat plains are believed to have been formed perhaps a billion years ago—comparatively recently in lunar history. They have not been bombarded for as long a time as the cratered areas.

Cratered regions primarily stem from large and small meteorites crashing into the moon, they believe, although the possibility of intermittently active volcanos cannot be ruled out.

The entire investigative project is intended to complement and supplement the lunar probe work being done with rockets, Murray said. But rocket landings on the moon must be preceded by a considerable amount of laboratory and telescopic investigation to realize their full value, he said.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT winners Sunday in the sixth annual Charles Farrell event at the Racquet Club in mixed doubles matches were, from left, Hugh Stewart and Mrs. William (Mousie) Powell. Prize-presenter was tennis hostess Julie Copeland, center, while runners-up were Joyce Lennick and David Reed. Winning score in the finals match was 6-2, 6-4. Singles winner was Alan Fox while men's doubles was won by Stewart and Bill Hays.

Player Draft Secret Even to Commissioner

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Commissioner Joe Foss said Monday he was "embarrassed" by a secret draft of college players, which he claimed American Football League club owners held without his knowledge.

Foss said in a statement from AFL headquarters he was told the draft was kept secret "because of my feelings against any sort of player selection prior to the regular draft."

He warned he will not approve the contract of any player who was signed before Dec. 2, the date of the AFL's regularly-scheduled draft.

But Foss said he might have approved the negotiations "as a player scouting measure" if he had known about it.

Foss and AFL publicity director Al Ward indicated the club owners merely made preliminary agreements as to which teams would approach which collegians with contract offers.

Then the club owners could make selections at the Dec. 2 draft with more assurance of getting the players they want. Selections made by teams also could be altered at the official draft, Foss said.

Foss did not make public the names of players placed on the "negotiation list" by the eight club owners.

Boosters to Honor Top Football Star

Boosters Club members decided last night to make an annual award to the top Palm Springs High School football team player each year. A permanent trophy with his name engraved would remain at the school while the player would receive some sort of a plaque to keep.

The decision was made as only a smidgen of members were present to make preparations for the annual Football Banquet which is scheduled for Dec. 6.

Presentation of the award for "Player of the Year" of "Outstanding Player" — the exact title has not yet been decided — will be made at the annual banquet. Indian football coaches Dick Bunting and Cal Farley were appointed by Booster President Walt Colglazier to work out details for the award and pick suitable trophies.

Committees Named

Even though attendance was low, President Colglazier did make some committee appointments for the banquet. These included: ticket sales, Marty Kenyon and George Aquinas; publicity, Gene Johnson; program, Howard Haddock; decorations, George McCrystal, Bob Williams and Larry Paul; and awards, Coaches Bunting and Farley.

Speaker for the program, which will be held at the Elks Lodge on Highway 111 starting at 7 p.m., will be Coach Jim Pecarovich of the University of San Diego. Boosters members report he is a noted speaker for such affairs. Tickets may be obtained for $2.50 from any Booster Club member.

Interesting films were shown at the meeting by Boys Club Executive Director Roy Lockwood on the professional Dallas Cowboys football team.

In other business to come before the meeting, Colglazier decried the reported thefts of money from high school football players during practice session this year. He reported that nearly $90 had been lost by various players, stolen from their lockers.

Hard to Catch

"This should be brought forcibly to the attention of school authorities," Colglazier said. Coach Bunting reported that such thefts were "almost impossible to catch," indicating a suspect had to be caught in the locker or with money in his hands in order to make it stick.

Golfing Classic Advance Ticket Sales Underway

A Christmas present of golfing tickets is being suggested by officials of the third annual Palm Springs Golf Classic, scheduled for next Jan. 31-Feb. 4.

In announcing the advance sale of badges for the event, Classic officials report that considerable savings can be obtained by getting them early. The additional possibility of giving them as Christmas presents for the avid golf fan was also hinted.

The Classic will be played over five courses, Bermuda Dunes, El Dorado, Indian Wells, Tamarisk and Thunderbird. Grounds admissions to all costs $12 in pre-tourney sales, while clubhouse admission badges cost $20.

Daily admission tickets will not be available in advance but must be purchased each day. Badge purchasers should contact Mrs. Polly Maultsby, tournament coordinator, at 1009 South Palm Canyon Drive.

Wood's 65 Wins

Dexter Wood shot a net 65 to win the Ball Sweepstakes at the Tamarisk Country Club Sunday in a low net tourney. Runner-up in the A flight was Dr. Sam Hart at 70, with Milt Karahadian at 72 and Dave Katz at 73 in third and fourth spots.

In the B flight, Robert Eisinger won with a 69 low net followed by four players tied for second with 72's. They were Frank DeGoff, Jay Minow, Morey Cagan and George Friedman. Next in line was Sam Greenfield with a 73.

Champs Win Opening in City Casaba

Beginning games in the City Basketball League were played last night at the Palm Springs High School gymnasium with last year's defending champion, Laurie's Steak Ranch, walking off with opening game.

Led by Don Aiken with 22 points, the Ranch-hands swamped Bonnie Electric, 83-57. Aiken had lots of help, offensive-wise, from George Hertzke, Palm Springs High casaba coach, and Dean Hendrickson, who both scored 20 points. Terry Silkwood led the leaders with 25 points, followed by Wes Walton's 18.

In the other opening - night game, the Smoke Tree Stables squad won a more defensive-oriented game from the Junior Chamber by a 49-38 count.

High scorer for the winners was Joe Mazzula with 20 points, while Jack Oberle paced the losers with 13.

Next games in the 20-game league will be played tomorrow night at the gym.

Ruling Today on Disputed Win By Notre Dame

CHICAGO (UPI) — William Reed, the commissioner of the Big Ten Conference, is expected to announce a decision today on the legality of a field goal that carried Notre Dame to a 17-15 victory over Syracuse last Saturday.

The Irish won the game on a 41-yard field goal by Joe Perkowski after time had run out. Perkowski missed an earlier attempt with three seconds remaining but got a second chance when Syracuse was penalized for unnecessary roughness.

The five officials of the game were ordered Monday to file reports with Reed and Asas Bushnell, the commissioner of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association.

A statement will be announced after Reed and Bushnell have had time to study the reports. Reed indicated he might issue a decision today.

The controversy centered on whether the officials had the right to give Notre Dame another chance after time had expired.

The NCAA rules stipulate that if the kicking team clearly intends to kick, "any foul during the kick, including roughing the kicker, will not extend the period as the ball is not in (the kicking team's) possession."

Bushnell explained in New York that any decision he and Reed make will concern whether the officials had made a mistake and will not change the outcome of the game.

"That will depend on the colleges themselves," Bushnell said.

CONSOLATION PRIZE is being offered to Louis Folk, left, who missed a 300 game at PS Bowl by one pin. Presenting the American Bowling Congress trophy is Fred Scarms. His 299 game was the highest ever bowled at the Lanes and came in a two-game streak in which he had 16 straight strikes. Winner of the state championship in Washington in 1957 with a five brother team, Folk has never bowled a 300 game in 30 years of bowling. His top game before the 299 was a 290. He had given up hopes of a 300, but after the game last week, he said he'll bowl for the perfect game "until he drops." His next appearance at the Lanes will be tomorrow night in the Desert Businessmen's League. (Desert Sun Photo)

'Bama Holds Top Spot in Football Poll

NEW YORK (UPI)—Alabama, pouncing through the stretch of the college football season with a perfect record, grabbed the lead from Texas today in the United Press International weekly ratings.

Twenty-five of the 35 leading coaches who comprise the UPI rating board picked Alabama as their No. 1 choice after the Crimson Tide ran its season record to 9-0 by blanking Georgia Tech, 10-0, last Saturday.

Texas, which held down first place for the past two weeks, skidded to fifth place following its first defeat of the season at the hands of Texas Christian, 6-0. The Longhorns drew only one first place vote after being the top choice of 26 coaches a week ago.

Three Move Up

Ohio State, Minnesota and Louisiana State also took advantage of the Longhorns' upset defeat, each moving up a notch. Ohio State took over the runner-up spot, Minnesota jumped to third place and LSU advanced to fourth.

Mississippi was the only member of the top 10 not affected by this week's wholesale shake-up. Ole Miss remained in the sixth slot while Michigan State advanced one notch to seventh. Colorado moved from 10th to eighth, Michigan from 14th to ninth, and Arkansas from 16th to 10th.

Inter-League Deal by Angels, Braves Hinted

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baseball's inter-league trading period officially has started — and the Milwaukee Braves hope to take advantage of it by obtaining fireballer Ryne Duren shortly in a deal with the Los Angeles Angels.

The Braves, disappointing fourth place finishers this year, are convinced their biggest need is a dependable relief pitcher to give Don McMahon a hand.

Duren, the 32-year-old ex-Yankee, could fit into that category perfectly.

He can still throw hard (striking out 111 in 104 innings with the Yanks and Angels last season), he's not afraid of work and his control is no longer the problem it once was.

The Angels aren't exactly looking to unload Duren for nothing. He helped their severely taxed pitching staff considerably this year.

Well Stocked Bullpen

But they're well stocked in the bullpen with Art Fowler, Tom Morgan, Jim Donohue and George Witt, and they're willing to part with Duren providing they can get what they want.

Carlton Willey would appeal to them as another possible starter or they might settle for an outfielder like Frank Thomas or Lee Maye.

At any rate, it is known that Fred Haney of the Angels and Johnny McHale of the Braves have been in contact the past few days and a deal for Duren could take place before or even at the annual baseball meetings in Tampa, Fla., next week.

One thing is sure about the Angels. No one has to tell them anything about the Braves' personnel. Both Haney and assistant farm director Roland Hemond are former Milwaukee employees.

Angels Eye Rookies

The Angels are especially interested in two of the Braves' rookies, third baseman Ed Charles, up from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League, and Bob Uecker, an All-Star catcher with Louisville of the American Association last season.
